Dear Sir or Madam

On behalf of the Scientific, Program and Organizing Committee I would like to cordially invite you to attend the 59th Scientific Session of the Institute of Plant Protection – NRI that will be held at the NOVOTEL POZNAŃ CENTRUM in Poznań. The subject of this year's annual meeting is „MODERN SOLUTIONS IN PLANT PROTECTION”.

Official opening will take place on 13th February 2019 at 10.00 AM.

Scientific Session of the Institute of Plant Protection – NRI is always a good chance to summarize the current status of plant protection knowledge, to present the results of research conducted in various scientific centres, and describe the latest discoveries and achievements in Polish science and agricultural practices. It is important to create and establish new tasks and challenges in the area of plant protection and food safety in front of the dynamic climate changes.

During the 59th Scientific Session of the Institute of Plant Protection – NRI I would like to pay special attention to the need of creation of innovative plant protection programs adapted to extreme weather conditions. The Session is also an opportunity to discuss legislative regulations and organizational solutions for plant protection.

On the eve of 59th Scientific Session of the Institute of Plant Protection – NRI the „FORUM OF YOUNG SCIENTISTS” will be organized. I strongly encourage young scientists to present their research and doctoral dissertations. The best presentations will be honoured with awards and distinctions.

The “SCIENCE TO THE AGRICULTURAL PRACTICE” panel will be held meanwhile the 59th Scientific Session. It is dedicated to agricultural producers, scientific workers, advisers and inspectors, and it is a good opportunity to discuss current and future threats to plant protection.

The most interesting works presented in the plenary and poster sessions will be published in the Journal of Plant Protection Research or the Progress in Plant Protection.

I encourage all scientists, Ph.D. students, representatives of Agricultural Advisory Centres, officials of state administration and experts representing various areas and specialties in all aspects of plant health reflecting the subject of the Session to participate in the 59th Scientific Session of the Institute of Plant Protection – NRI.

On behalf of the Scientific, Program and Organizing Committee
Director of the Institute of Plant Protection – NRI

Prof. Bożena Łozowicka
